

What is to be done to recover peoples' sovereignty: Nutrition, food, global health and corporate power

Civil Society Brainstorming Meeting before the 70th World Health Assembly
Geneva, Ecumenical Centre, Friday 19 May 2017, 9:30-17:00 hrs

Program

9:30 10:00	Coffee and croissants Welcome and introduction
10:15	Corporate Capture of Food, Nutrition, Health: Searching the common agenda Global governance of the food, nutrition and health policy spaces: How to strengthen bridges among the sectoral groups The role of social movements in the reform of the FAO Committee on World Food Security (CFS): Struggle against land grabbing and for food sovereignty, agro-ecological principles and coherence with human rights. With Javier Sanchez Anso, LVC Follow-up of the Second International Conference of Nutrition (ICN2) and the Nutrition Civil Society Group's struggle to recognize the structural links between food and nutrition in their multidimensionality. With Flavio Valente, FIAN The interconnectedness between the food and nutrition industry and health governance in WHO related processes With Garance Upham, WAAAR, and Alison Macintyre, WaterAid
12:45 13:00	Remaining introductions and feedback on the morning session Lunch at the restaurant (first floor)
14:00	What we are doing to recover peoples' sovereignty Mobilizing for a human rights treaty on the regulation of transnational corporations (TNCs): a strategy that needs all of us or deviates us from other relevant sectoral activities? Treaty Alliance – unifying civil society and human rights organizations for the treaty – holding corporate and governments accountable to their responsibilities and obligations. With Camille Selleger, GIFA Dismantle corporate power and the Peoples' Treaty – linking specific struggles to the construction of an autonomous legal standard based on the processes and experiences of social movements and communities. With Brid Brennan, TNI
	Break
	The resistance of the social movements and popular struggles in their territories against corporate power abuses and crimes With Marcela Fogaca Vieira, GTPI/Rebrip
	Final plenary leading to conclusions and the definition of next steps to strengthen mobilization and increase the convergence of struggles.
17:00	Reception and Buffet dinner